Two Local Residents Return From Fairbanks Flood Disaster

An 18-year veteran and a 3-year rookie took part in a Civil Air Patrol training mission that evolved into a disaster area relief program in Fairbanks, Alaska, last week.

Mrs. Isabelle McCrae, 7155 Mt. Vernon, Lemon Grove, and Stephanie Maynard, 16, of 3246 Acacia, Lemon Grove, returned Friday morning from Eilson Air Force Base, about 25 miles from the heart of Fairbanks and the center of the recent flooding in that area.

Apprtximately 198 Civil Air Patrol Cadets and their leaders, including 60 from the San Diego County area, had departed for Fairbanks, Sunday, Aug. 13, for a yearly learning and training mission at Eilson AFB.

But when the group arrived, they found themselves in the midst of a flooding situation around the countryside and immediately were put to work in a barracks compound.

The two local residents were able to give an account two phases of the operation, Mrs. Mc Crae explaining the situation from the leadership point of view, for she was in charge of a barracks of evacuees, and Miss Maynard from the angle of a young Cadet, involved in her first emergency aid operation.

Mrs. Mc Crae was high in her praise of the organizational ability which the military at the air base showed in handling the problem of hundreds of evacuees from the city of Fairbanks and the surrounding area.

"The staff at Eilson was just tremendous in the way it handled the entire situation," said Mrs. Mc Crae, a captain in the CAP. "They didn't waste any time in getting our group organized to aid in the handling of men, women, and children."

Mrs. Mc Crae gave a vivid account of the five busy days she spent working with the other Cadets in Alaska.

"When we arrived there Sunday it was raining and it never stopped the whole time we were there. The sun did peek through the morning we were leaving, but except for that instance, there was a constant mist over the area."

"I was placed in charge of a barracks area in which we conducted aid for the constant flow of women and children from the flood center. I had a large room with a telephone to take care of the majority of cases, while a smaller room was provided with three beds for isolation cases."

"I took care with all cases that came through our barracks. "We had all the women and children in our section, while the men were about a hundred yards away in another aid center."

"I lost track of time as the days passed by. I know I went about 72 hours with about six hours of sleep and I can not recall eating anything for 14 straight hours. The main reason for not eating was that I just didn't have the time."

"When we arrived at the air base, they explained to us why the rain had caused such a flood condition. They said that around 18 inches below the surface there is a layer of perma-frost ice, a solid barrier that water doesn't seep through. The rain water soaks into the earth up to that point and then starts piling up, causing flood conditions."

"Getting back to our operation, we spent a good deal of the time getting typhoid shots to the children. The military personnel conducted most of these shot clinics. They thought it would be better if I stayed in the barracks and aided the incoming evacuees."

"I estimate we took in about 600 people over the week. When they came in they were issued sleeping bags and blankets, along with K-ration packets for their meals. We administered to any physical injuries or other needs and also provided other services for the women and children."

"Among the services initiated for the children, was a babysitting program performed by the girl Cadets in our barracks. The women would leave the children with the Cadets, whenever the service was necessary."

"There is a funny story connected with this babysitting program. Some of the girls had to baby-sit for a beagle dog who would cry all night if someone didn't stay up and talk to him. Most of the animals were placed in the shelter on the air base, but some people kept their pets with them in the barracks."

"We had a regular baby room set up for the evacuees. It just seemed as if we had a service for everyone and everything."

"The incoming displaced persons who we took care of came up with some interesting stories about the flood. Most of them had been of the conviction that they could stay in their own homes until the water receeded, but in the end had been forced to leave their dwellings. Most of the people waited until the very last minute before leaving their homes."

"A man from the base tried to drive into Fairbanks to see his mother, but he only made it halfway in his car. The only things that could be used for travel were buses and helicopters, and of course, boats. People came in with reports of being evacuated by bus, but I couldn't see how a bus could get through the flood waters if a car couldn't make it. The evacuees cleared up that mystery by saying that they were taken from their homes by helicopter and boat and then trnsferred to buses far outside the city."

"All of the people came in with stories of how all the highways were washed out and all the power lines were down. They all said that their cars were underwater and all you could see was the very top of the autos."

"The air force base was inaccessible to cars also, and everyone was either brought in by bus or helicoptor. The cadets had to be carried into the barracks by the air force personnel, after coming by bus." The girls spent most of the time bailing water and putting up sand bags."

And that's where Stephanie Maynard comes into the picture.

Miss Maynard, who will be a junior at Mt. Miguel High in Spring Valley this fall, had expected a regular training week at the Alaskan site, but things didn't work out that way.

"We spent most of the time bailing water. Well, we didn't really, but it sure did seem that way. All I can remember is bailing water and putting up sand bags."

Stephanie Maynard

"We did a lot of work with the flood victim children. We worked with all the families, trying to make things easier for them. We performed the various services which they required, taking care of the sick, providing clothes and food for the women and children, and setting up a babysitting service for the younger children."

"It was quite an experience for all of us, especially when we had just figured on participating in a regular training program. I think we ended up having just two of the scheduled lectures."

The only view the cadets and leaders got of the Fairbanks area was from the planes as it started on its journey homeward on the final day of the trip.

"All I could see for miles around was water," explained Mrs. Mc Crae. All the homes looked like boathouses and every once in a while you would spot a tree popping up out of the endless sea of flood water. It looked like one gigantic lake."

All in all, it was a damp trip for the locals.

The DIMMER VIEW

A Way To Stop Smoking

Smoking Research of San Diego, dedicated to the belief that smoking is one of the causes of heart disease, annually gets together with business and industry leaders.

Recently, the organization conducted a symposium on the complicated subject of "Why Men Smoke."

The discussions eventually centered on the physchological aspects of smoking. In this field, at least, the answers came out simple and understandable.

Four types of personality types of smokers were detailed.

1. The habitual smoker. He puts a cigarette in his mouth out of habit and is not conscious of his act.

2. The psychologically addictive smoker. He is acutely aware of moments they do not have a cigarette in their hands.

3. Positive smokers. These people smoke for a lift. They feel that their faculties are alert as a result of smoking.

4. Negative smokers. These smokers use their habit to relax or to delay decision making.

It was also revealed that a two-pack-a-day smoker runs a 70% greater risk of developing heart disease.

Smoking Research pointed out that smokers who learn why they smoke can also see ways by which they can quit.

Smoking Research, 440 Upas st., San Diego, is the nation's first community-level smoking education project.

The non-profit operation is funded by the U. S. Public Health Service through the County Medical association.

Literature is available to those with a yen but not backbone to quit. Programs are available for groups including one we saw recently a hilarious movie of this serious problem. And finally, a cessation clinic will be conducted for 10 weeks starting Sept. 14 at the Upas street address.

If you want to give up smoking, you ought to call Smoking Research at 297-1643.

The Lincoln Bank Account

Some presidents, all the way back to Lincoln, were careless with money. Lincoln was casual with his own funds, but not as casual as Mr. Johnson is with our funds today.

On August 11, 1863, while crossing the park from the White House to the War Department, Abraham Lincoln was stopped by a Negro who told him a pitiful story. Obviously touched, the President wrote out a check for five dollars — made out to the "Colored Man with one Leg.".

Ever since, the location of this check has been the object of a nationwide search by historians. If and when it is located, it will probably bring something close to $5,000.

In the meantime, the search has turned up some interesting facts about Lincoln's finances and his absentmindedness in some of his personal affairs. The material has been authenticated by the Bank of America Trust Department.

The President wrote a check for $2.50 on May, 1864, to pay for his eyeglasses to an optical shop close to the White House. But the check was never cashed.

The store owner explained to a grand-son that he "felt sorry for Lincoln, realizing the terrible burdens the President had to bear, and feeling particularly bad about the fact that Mrs. Lincoln was awfully hard on the President, and very extravagant . . . he wanted to help Mr. Lincoln out."

Stories that Lincoln was a poor man would have seemed true if you looked at the balance of his account at Riggs and Co. on the day he wrote his $2.50 check. The balance amounted to only $78.86. Yet the following day he cashed a check for $800, and a month later his overdrafts amounted to $2,141.

Banks, of course, were much more lenient in those days. Had all the facts been known, however, another picture would have appeared.

An absentminded Lincoln had forgotten to deposit his April pay check of $2,083.33, which didn't reach the bank until November.

In June that year Lincoln walked into the office of Salmon P. Chase, his secretary of the Treasury, and dumped a bag of greenbacks, salary warrants, bonds, and a bag of gold on Chase's desk. It turned out that Lincoln owned

State Cash Receipts Up

SACRAMENTO — The State's General Fund cash receipts for the first month of the 1967-68 fiscal year totaled $76,326.391, State Controller Houston I. Flournoy reported.

This is an increase of 12.6 per cent compared to the same period a year ago.

Meantime, he said, expenditures for the first month were $236,777,725 — an increase of 16.9 per cent.

During July 1967, the General Fund borrowed $124 million from the Pooled Money Account. Including the unpaid balance of $194 million on June 30, 1967, the temporary loan balance on July 31, 1967 was $318 million. During the first two weeks of August, $67 million of the unrepaid balance was repaid, but the General Fund will have to borrow during the balance of August upwards of $160 million.

Major revenue sources during the first month of the current fiscal year produced the following receipts:

Sales tax, $28,907,367; bank and corporation franchise and income taxes, $22,152,577; personal income tax, $6,730,458; cigarette tax, $6,432,841; and liquor taxes, $6,372,941.

First National Bank Becomes So. Cal. Firm

Jack Koop, manager of the Lemon Grove branch of the First National Bank of San Diego, announces that at the close of business today, First National is making a change in name to Southern California First National Bank.

Koop said the name change coincides with the bank's acquisition of the Saddleback National Bank in Tustin, Orange County, which will be known as the Saddleback branch.

Operating exclusively in the San Diego County area for 84 years, First National is making its first step beyond county lines, and for this reason, First National president, Claude Blakemore, states the necessity for a name change to one that will reflect the total area to be served by the bank.

Although the name change will take place immediately, Mr. Blakemore said that an orderly transition of the bank's corporate identity, including signs and letterheads will be made following a study currently underway by one of the nation's leading design consultants. In the meantime, Blakemore said, all checks, documents and forms will continue to be recognized and honored by the bank.

Following the Saddleback merger, First National plans to merge with Huntington-Valley Bank, Huntington Beach, and, pending final approval by the regulatory authorities, with Heritage-Wilshire National Bank in West Los Angeles.

The combination of the four banks will increase First National's system to 39 offices with permits for branches in downtown Santa Ana and in Pacific Palisades. Combined deposits on June 30 were $397 million, Loans outstanding totaled $256 million and assets were $407 million.

In a sense it may truly be said that any offering to God is prayer. Public worships, devotional reading, charitable deeds, work for worthy cause, all or any of these may partake the quality of prayer if they are made an offering to God. But there is a very large if in that statement.

Midgets Progress

Pop Warner Elevens Prepare For Opener

Los Toros Pop Warner Football Assn.s' three teams moved into their third week of practice Monday and it was the concensus of opinion among the coaches that it's just to early to tell.

The Sky-Grove Pony League Field in Lemon Grove has been the site of the second full week of contact practice for the Spring Valley-Lemon Grove area elevens. The teams will move to their permanent home at Mt. Miguel High as soon as the prep gridiron is available for use. The first week in September is the target date for the change-over.

At the present, the Midgets, Brahmas, ann Longhorns are crowded on the local pony league diamond, along with the clinic squads.

Shorty, Bannister, moving into his ninth year of coaching the sport for the association summed up the views of the coaches when he described his feelings about his squad.

"I guess a coach is never really satisfied at this point," explained Bannister. "You see some of the good things the boys are doing, but it's usually the mistakes that stand out at such an early point in the season."

Bannister has one big thing in his favor that no coach would ever complain about. The Midget mentor is welcoming back a complete veteran backfield from a team that lost but two games last season.

"Our team last season outscored the opponent 186-20," said Bannister. "I think that explains a lot about our offense and our defense."

The Midgets veteran backfield is headed by Tim Miller at the quarterback slot. Miller, who pitched nine innings of the hard-luck 14-inning loss to Southeastern in Lemon Grove Little League's first all-star game last month, played halfback last season, but is now calling the signals for the locals.

"I hated to put Tim in the quarterback position because he runs so well," added Bannister. "He was one of our leading ball carriers last year."

"The best thing I can say about my backs is that they are tough," an enthused Bannister said. "These boys go both ways and are the foundations of my defense."

Bannister indicated his big problem spot was in his offensive line, having only one returning player in that department.

"Defensively we have no problems at all," 'said Bannister. "I've got two boys — Art Shurley and Tim Vasquez — that realy hit hart."

Bannister is looking forward to a possible scrimmage this Saturday, but arrangements had not been finalized.

"These scrimmages tell a lot," added Bannister.

Bannister's problem of an offensive line can be carried over to the other two local teams, with Coach Bud Taylor of the Longhorns and Coach Don Etherton and Bill Smith of the Brahmas indicating the tough job of teaching the youngsters the intricate job of blocking on the offensive line.

In an overall view of Taylor's Pee Wee Longhorns, the eight-year coaching veteran termed his squad as "coming along very good."

Taylor will have eight returnees in his starting lineups, but has to work with mostly new boys. Despite this, Taylor indicated that the contact phase of the practices had been good and the tackling and blocking were progressing.

"Blocking is the hardest thing to teach newcomers to the game," explained Taylor. "All my boys have shown courage."

Early standouts in the Longhorn practices have been fullback Matt Taylor, returning for his third season with the team, quarterback Mark Guynn, and defensive end John Mumaw.

Taylor has coached the Pee Wees in all but two of his seasons with Los Toros.

"I like coaching the youngest boys better," assessed Taylor. "It's gratifying to see the boys progress."

Brahma coach Etherton will stress defense on his squad, which will be bolstered by 13 returning ballplayers.

In his fourth year of Pop Warner coaching, Etherton's team last season lost but two games, both by one point.

Etherton indicated a fine improvement in the defense and he pointed out four boys he believes will form the nucleus of his defensive eleven.

Returnees Terry Vasquez, Michael Long, Craig Etherton, and newcomer Rod Myrick will form the foundations of what Etherton terms a "tough 5-4-2 defense".

Etherton's offensive coach Smith has a unique problem in the Brahma backfield. He has too many boys to choose from.

"I've got ten boys working out in the backfield and its going to be hard to pick out the four that will play," lamented Smith.

Smith has two boys battling for the QB spot, Ron Harger and Paul Kline, with Mike Denson at fullback, and Jess Jenner running from the left-halfback position.

"We've got some good offensive guards, but the main problem is teaching the boys how to block properly," added Smith.

The Brahmas will run from a flank-T offense according to Smith, and he hopes to try out his offense in a possible scrimmage a week from Saturday.

The warm-up race for the big holiday week-end of racing at Cajon Speedway will see five top point leaders and main event winners vieing for a purse of over $2,000.00 for the sixth week in a row.

Along with the big money are the priceless points that pick out the yearly champion and the prestige of being a big winner in the top race of the evening the main event.

Top man in main events is Tex Kimbrell of Imperial Beach. He is second in points to Vance Butler of La Cresta. Tex has posted five wins while Butler holds 4. Gulls Set Tour

A six-game exhibition schedule was announced by San Diego Gulls' general manager coach Max McNab.

McNab said that there will probably be another game or two added to the schedule at a later date.

The Gulls open their exhibition action, September 26, facing the Phoenix Roadrunners in Victoria, B.C. The Gulls report to training camp September 19 and start drills the following day.

San Diego will play two games each against Vancouver and Phoenix. There is one game scheduled against the Seattle Totems, and a second game against the Totems will probably be added to the scheduled. All games are away from San Diego.

Oceans of fresh water for our growing community

Tapping the ocean is one way to meet Southern California's ever-growing demand for good fresh water. But with present methods, saltwater conversion is still relatively expensive.

At SDG&E's South Bay Power Plant, the Office of Saline Water is researching ways to cut the costs. Using manpower and steampower from our plant, this facility will develop new techniques and equipment to make saltwater conversion more economical.

This research, along with other projects in which we are participating, will help bring future generations a continuing, abundant supply of good fresh water.

Oceans of it.

The Spanish word "masticar" looks almost like the English word "masticate." These words have a common base. They are spelled almost the same way. Both words mean "to chew."

If we wish to say "I chew," we drop the "ar" from "masticar" and replace it with "o" which results in the word "mastico." If we wish to say "he chews," we drop the "ar" from "masticar" and replace it with "a" which produces the word "mastica."

Another change may be made by applying "amos" to "masticar." This will produce the word "masticamos" which means "we chew." If we wish to say "they chew," we apply "an" to "masticar" producing the word "mastican."

A common expression with "masticar" may be "Favor de masticar su comida." (Please chew your food.). Another expression may be "Yo mastico la carne." (I chew the meat.)

If we apply "ando" to "masticar," we may construct the word "masticando" which means "chewing." We may use this word in the expression "Estoy masticando un dulce." which means "I am chewing a candy."

Practice these phrases which use the word "masticar" in varying ways.

IMPORTANT PHRASES
Say "Yo mastico la comido." (yoh mah-STEE-koh lah koh-MEE-thah)
"I chew the food."
Say "Es importante masticar bien." (ehs eem-pohr-TAHN-teh mah-stee-KAHR bee-EHN) for "It is important to chew well."

USEFUL PHRASES
Say "El mastica la carne." (ehl mah-STEE-kah lah KAHR-neh)
for "He chews the meat."
Say "Nosotros masticamos los dulces." (noh-SOH-trohs mah stee-KAH-mohs lohs DOOL-sehs) for "We chew the candies."

OTHER PHRASES
Say "Mastica usted chicle?" (mah-STEE-kah oo-STEHD CHEEK-leh)
for "Do you chew gum?"
Say "Yo no mastico chicle." (yoh noh mah-STEE-koh CHEEK-leh)
for "I do not chew gum."

$57,000 worth of government bonds.

In addition the President had a bank balance of almost $8,000 in Springfield, Ill., owned his home in that city, and had a number of people owe him close to $8,500.

A man of modest means when he entered the White House as president, he left an estate of $111,000 (more than $300,000 by today's standards-, largely as a result of savings from his presidential salary of $25,000 a year.

Lincoln opened his account with Riggs and Company shortly after his first inauguration and remained a customer until his assassination. During that period, he drew 221 checks, including one to "Tad (when he is well enough to present)" for five dollars, made out on March 10, 1862.

It seems that Lincoln was interrupted at a meeting by Tad's nurse, who informed the president that his son wouldn't take his medicine. As Lincoln's other son, Willie, had died only 19 days earlier and Mrs. Lincoln was still prostrate with grief, Lincoln excused himself and talked to his son in private.

After a brief conversation with his son, a happy Lincoln emerged from the room and announced "It's all right, Tad and I have fixed things up."

The nurse found Tad beaming, with the check clutched in his hands. He had taken his medicine, and records show a five-dollar withdrawal from the president's account the following day.

Either Tad got well very quickly or he found someone to cash the check for him.

This Board of Supervisors finds that the County Planning Commission and the Department of Planning of the County of San Diego, in good faith, are conducting studies for the purpose of holding a hearing and recommending the adoption of a zoning ordinance so as to comprehensively zone the territory referred to in Section 2 of this Ordinance and finds that it is necessary for the protection of the public safety, health and welfare that this Board of Supervisors adopt as an urgency measure this temporary interim zoning ordinance.

9. Section 850 (Interpretation — Conflict of Provisions).

It is the intent of this Ordinance that the land and area subject to the provisions of this Ordinance shall not be used and no building or structure shall be erected, constructed, moved, altered, enlarged or rebuilt in any manner that would be contrary to the provisions of The Zoning Ordinance had such land and area been classified and zoned pursuant to and adopted as a part of The Zoning Ordinance.

Section 6. LIMITATION OF LAND USE. No building or structure shall be erected and no existing building or structure shall be moved, altered, added to or enlarged, nor shall any land, building, structure, or premises be used for any purpose or in any manner other than is permitted in the zone in which such land, building, structure, or premises are located and by the provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 7. LIMITATION OF HEIGHT. No building or structure shall be erected, reconstructed or structurally altered to exceed in height the limits established by the provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 8. BUILDING SITE, AREA AND YARD REQUIREMENTS. Section 9. SEPARATE YARDS REQUIRED. No yard or other open space provided about any building or structure for the purpose of complying with the requirements of this Ordinance shall be considered as providing a yard or open space for any other building or structure.

Section 10. BUILDING SITE AND LOT REQUIREMENTS. No building or structure shall be erected, moved, altered, enlarged or rebuilt unless such building or structure is erected or located upon a lot or building site that conforms with the provisions of this Ordinance.

Section 11. COMPLETION OF EXISTING BUILDINGS. Nothing herein contained shall require any change in the plans, construction or designated use of a building or structure for which a building permit has been issued prior to the effective date of any amendment to this Ordinance provided that actual construction of such building or structure is commenced within 60 days after the date of issuance of the building permit and is completed within one year from the effective date of such amendment and provided further that such construction and proposed use of such building or structure is not on said effective date in violation of any other ordinance or law.

Actual construction is hereby defined to be the actual placing of construction materials in their permanent position fastened in a permanent manner, except that where a basement is being excavated such excavating shall be deemed to be actual construction or where demolition or removal of an existing structure has been begun preparatory to rebuilding, such demolition or removal shall be deemed to be actual construction.

Section 13. ZONING PLAN TO BE PREPARED. The Director of Planning and the Planning Commission of the County of San Diego are hereby directed to proceed to make the necessary studies and analyses for the development of a comprehensive zoning plan applicable to the area regulated by this Ordinance and to develop such a comprehensive zoning plan and to hold a public hearing or hearings thereon in accordance with Chapter 4 of Title 7 of the Government Code of the State of California.

Section 14. SEVERABILITY. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause, or phrase of this Ordinance is, for any reason, held to be invalid or unconstitutional, such invalidity or unconstitutionality shall not affect the validity or constitutionality of the remaining portions of this Ordinance, it being hereby expressly declared that this Ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause, and phrase hereof would have been prepared, proposed, adopted, approved, and ratified irrespective of the fact that any one or more other sections, subsections, sentences, clauses, or phrases be declared invalid or unconstitutional.

Section 15. ENFORCEMENT. It shall be the duty of the County Engineer of the County of San Diego to review all applications for building permits. Each application for a permit to construct a building or structure filed with the County Engineer of the County of San Diego shall be checked by him for compliance with this Ordinance. A zoning plan to classify the area referred to in Section 2 of this Ordinance was requested by the owner of the major portion of the property in the area referred to in Section 2 of this Ordinance in order to provide appropriate zoning protection for the area pending completion of a comprehensive zoning plan. Studies preparatory to this plan have been started, but the length of time required for completion of the studies, analyses and hearings will make possible the development of land in a manner adverse to the development potential and the welfare of this area, unless the established character and integrity of this area is preserved in the interim between the adoption of this Ordinance and the adoption of a comprehensive zoning plan.

Section 19. EFFECTIVE DATE. EXPIRATION DATE. This Ordinance shall be in force and effect from and after its passage for a period of ninety (90) days, and before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after its passage shall be published once, with the names of the members voting for and against the same, in the Spring Valley Bulletin, a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of San Diego.

DREAM COME TRUE: Neighborhood children crod around 12-year old Eileen Kitchen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kitchen of 3218 Crane st., Lemon Grove, as she sells tickets for a fund raising carnival she staged in her yard. The carnival produced $28 for the muscular distrophy fund, satisfying the local girl's wish to help combat the dread disease in some way.

Kids' Carnival Successful; Produces $28 For MD Disease

A 12-year old girl's wish to aid in combating dread muscular distrophy has produced $28 for the MD fund and a lot of fun for the kids along Crane st., Lemon Grove.

Eileen Kitchen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kitchen, of 3218 Crane st., decided a money-making carnival would be just about the right thing. She got Alison, Alexis and Kerstin Landham, Debbie Clevinger, Brian Parchman, Frank Webber, Marty Kennelly, Chris and Betsy Daniels, and her sister, Mary Anne Kitcher to help her. The boys mostly made Creepy Crawlers of a rubbery plastic poured into a mold. The girls made stuffed animals.

Several booths were erected and on Saturday, Aug. 12, the show was put on. There were games, prizes and refreshments. There was also a raffle for a "mystery prize". This was a vase donated by a neighbor. It was won by a little boy who carried it proudly home to his mother.

When the last patron left at dark, the "take" had totaled $28. Eileen said she got the idea while watching a Johnny Downs show on television.

State Saves $52 Million

Sacramento — Governor Ronald Reagan announced that savings of approximately $52 million realized in the departments of the Transportation Agency will allow the advancement of 13 major highway construction projects in the 1967-68 fiscal year.

"Secretary of Business and Transportation Gordon C. Luce has advised me that departmental personnel and operating economies, combined with competitive low bids on many construction projects and an inability to spend in various phrases of all departmental operations, have created these massive savings," Governor Reagan said.

"I want to congratulate the many state employees whose fine cooperation has made these major economies possible."

The savings occurred in the Departments of Public Works, Motor Vehicles and California Highway Patrol.

A breakdown of the savings shows $16 million from 1966-67 low bids; $15 million from additional revenue in operating expense savings in the Departments of Motor Vehicles and California Highway Patrol; $6.15 million from refinanced projects in District 10; and $15 million in 1966-67 personnel and operating expense savings in the Department of Public Works. Also it is anticipated that $15 million to $20 million can be added to the Highway Fund in 1967-68 because of a lower required cash cushion for expenditures in the California Highway Patrol and Department of Motor Vehicles departmental fund.

Gasoline taxes make up the Transportation Agency Funds and economies realized are then used for right of way and highway construction purposes.

"This is great news for California motorists and is strong evidence of the success of the Governor's program for our departments," Luce said.

County Population Up 24.2 Per Cent

San Diego County's population has risen to an estimated $1,283,200,250,189 more people than resided here during the federal census.

Blind Employment Rate in Big Rise

SACRAMENTO — The number of blind and near-blind Californians placed into jobs by the State Department of Rehabilitations rose by almost one-third during the 1966-67 fiscal year, Rehabilitation Director Robert E. Howard announced.

"We closed out 451 cases as completely rehabilitated, compared with 340 the year before," Director Howard said. "This is a significant increase of 32.6 percent."

All these disabled Californians received counseling, job training and placement services during the year.

The rehabilitation figure for the legally blind amounted to a 76 percent increase from 1962-63, the last year before all rehabilitation services for the blind were gathered together into the new Department of Rehabilitation, Director Howard added.

Total blind and near-blind caseload was 2,726 on July 1, the beginning of the present fiscal year, compared with 2,167 the year before.

I hope it never happens to you, but in an emergency, would you know how to get help fast? In a crisis—whether you need the highway patrol, the police, the fire department, the doctor, or whomever—you can save important minutes when you dial emergency numbers direct.

In the front pages of the phone book you'll find spaces available to write in your own emergency numbers. May I suggest that you fill them in? Also, it's a good idea to make sure everyone in your family, including the children, knows how to use them.

When making an emergency call, please remember this: it is vital to give your location and phone number!

And, if for any reason you can't dial the emergency number yourself, just dial "0" for Operator. She's always there to help you.

Customers who wish to pay telephone bills at locations more convenient to them may do so at Lake Pharmacy, 6125 Lake Murray Blvd., La Mesa; First National Bank of San Diego, 4757 Palm Ave., La Mesa, and First National Bank of San Diego, 3285 Imperial Ave., Lemon Grove.

Planning an "evening out?" You'll relax and have a better time if you make sure that your baby-sitter knows where you can be reached by phone. Even if you're planning to be two or three places during the evening, it's a good idea to write down the names of the places, the phone numbers, and the approximate times you'll be there.

And, it's a good idea to point out to your sitter all emergency numbers, including the family doctor's, which you have written in the front of your phone book.

I'm sure you'll find that taking this precaution is a very easy habit to get into — and it's one way that your telephone can make a night out just that much more pleasant.
